

DISCLAIMER

- We have made every effort to display colours on screen as accurately as possible but they may vary for the following reasons, however:
Colours in our configurator may differ from the original due to the settings of your screen or printer such as contrast, brightness, saturation, type of screen etc.
In addition, there are other factors such as gloss level, incident light and colours in the immediate environment which affect the colour of the product.
Consequently, a colour discrepancy per production batch cannot be ruled out. Furthermore, (if pretreatment is opted for) windows and doors are immersed while other parts are sprayed. Because of this, windows/doors may be darker than, for example, the walls. We also have to rely on the (visual) material made up in various colour profiles which, upon final delivery, may vary in colour.
All these factors may easily cause a change in appearance.
We have made an effort to describe and display the colours as accurately as possible. However, they will always be approximate.
All descriptions of colour and colour names indicate a shade of colour. A colour description is based on human perception and no rights can be derived from it. You may also find a product on our website that does not have a colour (description). If you have any doubts as to a particular colour, we recommend that you inquire about this colour before placing your order.
- No rights can be derived from the images shown, they may differ from reality.
- Heights shown such as height of walls, ridge height etc. are approximate and may differ from the products delivered. The same applies to proportions.
- Length, width and total measurements shown are approximate and may differ from the products delivered.
- If you want to know the exact measurements, please request a drawing. We will charge a fee of EUR or £ 100 inclusive of VAT for this, which will be credited upon final delivery.
- There is no reproduction right as to the contents of this configurator; all copy rights, including those as referred to in article 15 of the Copyright Act, are reserved. Dutch law shall be applicable.
- We reserve the right to any changes in model, colour, price, design, materials and construction. It may be necessary to adjust the configuration for technical or structural reasons or for reasons of efficiency causing the final result to change. You can request this information after ordering since we do not supply these discrepancies/changes automatically.
- No rights can be derived from the information supplied in the Lugarde configurator. All rights reserved. Nothing from this configurator may be reproduced, copied, forwarded or published without the express written consent from Lugarde B.V. Several Lugarde products are protected by copy right laws, patents and/or are protected designs.
- All prices mentioned in the configurator are subject to change.